DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1911. NO. 140.

NO RAILROAD THEN

MONDAY WAS 42D ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING OF DEMOCRAT.

MOREHOUSE AND BUELL

Were First Owners—First Issue Contained Account of Grand Excursion Planned to St. Joseph.

Forty-two years ago Monday, or November 13, 1869, appeared the first issue of the Nodaway Democrat, later merged with the Forum, and now The Democrat-Forum. The paper was started by A. P. Morehouse, who was later lieutenant-governor and also governor of Missouri to fill out the unexpired term of Governor Marmaduke, who died while in office. His partner was A. C. Buell.

At the time the paper was started there was no railroad entering the town. However, a railroad was being built from Kansas City and St. Joseph through Maryville on north, and the railroad was about completed to this city. The following item taken from the first issue might be of interest to many:

"A meeting was held on Friday evening last at the court house, and preliminary steps were taken to prepare a grand reception dinner to be given the excursionists expected here on the completion of the railroad to this point from Kansas City and St. Joseph. Measures were also taken to organize for a grand excursion to the above named cities from Maryville and Nodaway county.

"The meeting was organized by calling Hon. M. G. Roseberry to the chair, and J. Edwards secretary.

"Mr. I. V. McMillan stated the object of the meeting.

"Committee on correspondence—I. V. McMillan, Thomas Brown and L. Dawson.

"Committee on donations—Col. F. Libby, John Allen, Esq., William Anderson, D. E. Laffer, L. Dawson, Mrs. Morehouse, Mrs. Lewis, Miss M. V. Prather, Mrs. Hastings, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Morton and Mrs. F. Smith.

Comparatively a New County Then.

An editorial in the paper on Nodaway county might also be interesting reading to many. It follows:

"There is, we think, no section of the west that offers more inducements to emigration at the present time than Nodaway county. Our healthful climate, deep rich soil, and broad expansive prairies, interspersed with numerous groves, and running brooks, which only await the husbandman's touch to make the same groan with a bountiful harvest, invites emigration. It is true that ours is comparatively a new country. The wigwam of the Indian has but recently passed away, and the path and wallow of the buffalo are yet visible on a hundred hills in the country. It has been but about thirteen years since most of the land in the county was entered from the government, although the county was settled several years earlier. But in this short period improvement and progress have not been idle. We can boast of as honest, industrious and enterprising a class of citizens as may be found in any of the eastern states. Almost every neighborhood is provided with a convenient school house, with sufficient public school money to support a school from four to six months in the year. We have a railroad being built from St. Joseph up the valley of the 102 river, in the direction of Des Moines, Ia., which, in all probability, will be completed to that point in one year. This will open up communication with the east, via the H. & St. J. R. R. on the south and with the Burlington & Missouri River railroad on the north. We also have a very flattering prospect for a railroad from Quincy, Ill., to Brownville, Neb., which will extend and connect with the Pacific road near Ft. Kearney. Surely with all these advantages, with the start that nature gave us, we are sure of success. But these are not all the inducements that we can offer the emigrant. We have within the limits of the county at least 300,000 acres of unimproved land, the most of which can be bought at prices ranging from $5 to $10 per acre—none of it being situated so far from timber but that one man can put in cultivation and fence forty acres in one year. There is not perhaps a quarter section of land in the county but that will sell for $50 to $75 per acre in the older states. Our improvements thus far have been slow, but in most instances substantial, and now with all the enumerated advantages, and prospects for more, we shall in the next twelve months increase in population and wealth more than we have in eight years past. We have an area in square miles almost as large as the state of Rhode Island, and can support a greater agricultural population. Therefore, we would advise those who desire to seek homes in the west to come to Nodaway county and see for themselves."

THE REPORT READY

EXPERTS INFORM BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS TO THAT EFFECT.

WILL BE MADE PUBLIC

As Soon as Report Can Be Approved the Board Will Proceed to Act in Interests of City.

The board of public works has received word from the engineers that were hired to take the valuation of the water company's plant that their report is now ready and will be sent almost any day soon.

The reports of the two engineering firms will be made public. While no one knows the nature of their report, still it will be placed on the city records.

If the report is approved by the board of public works or the city, work will commence at once either looking forward to buying the water plant, if the city water company will take a reasonable price or about what it is worth, or in constructing a new water works system here.

A GOOD RAILROAD MEETING.

A Representative Gathering at St. Joseph Sunday Was Attended by Agent W. E. Goforth.

Agent W. E. Goforth of the Burlington railway, of this city, attended a meeting of railroad men in St. Joseph Sunday. The meeting was well attended by representatives from Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Burlington, Ia., and other points.

The Burlington railway has been holding meetings for some time at various points along its lines for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to improved service in both freight and passenger service, and schemes for improved methods in bringing about more efficient service to the public in all lines of railroad work are thoroughly considered by these men.

A great deal of good is accomplished for all concerned, and the interests of the company and the public become mutual through the meeting of the officials and their employees, and they are as informal as a family gathering.

Called by Father's Illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade of Fairfield, Ia., were called to Maryville Saturday by the illness of Mr. Wade's father, O. P. Wade. Mr. Wade was taken quite sick Thursday with neuralgia of the heart, which threaten pneumonia. He is much better now and his son and his wife left for their home Tuesday noon. Mrs. Charles Wade expects to go to Litchfield, Ill., soon to visit her sister, Mrs. Veno Rieves, formerly Miss Ethel Karnes of this city. Her mother, Mrs. J. A. Karnes, formerly of this city, is visiting with her daughter in Illinois, and they will all return to Fairfield with Mrs. Wade for a visit.

Mrs. J. E. Orme returned Monday morning from a week's visit at Pickering with her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Houston.

SHE WAS EIGHTY-ONE

MRS. DOCIA BROGAN CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY MONDAY.

LIVED HERE SINCE 1855

Aged Woman, Whose Experience of Life Runs Past the Traditional Three Score and Ten.

Mrs. Docia Brogan, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ada Jones, at 202 East First street, celebrated her eighty-first birthday anniversary Monday, November 13, at her daughter's home. Mrs. Jones planned a post card shower for her mother, and the "shower" is continuing to fall generously. Mrs. Brogan also received other nice tokens of remembrance. She is in excellent health and appears ten years younger than she is ,while she is as sprightly and takes as much interest in household affairs as many young women.

Mrs. Brogan has lived in Nodaway county since 1855, when she came here with her husband not long after they were married, from their home, near Knoxville, Tenn. They settled on a farm twelve miles northwest of Maryville, two miles north of where Wilcox now is, which was her home until recent years. Her husband, the late Joel D. Brogan, died twenty years ago. When they settled on their farm there was but one house between their home and Maryville, and Maryville, she said, was not as large as Wilcox now is. They had to go to Savannah when they went to mill.

The hardest times she ever knew was during the war, when her husband enlisted for service in the Union army and served until the close of the war. She managed the farm alone, spun, wove and made all the clothing she and her children wore, and raised the cotton and flax from which it was made. She made what few trips to town were necessary on horseback, taking her little ones with her, and her remembrance of the long, cold winters that were common in those early days are not pleasant to think of. But the years of happiness and prosperity that followed have in a measure atoned for those early experiences, and she is a happy woman, "all but one thing," she said, "and that is, if only all my children could be where I could see and talk with them every day."

Mrs. Brogan is a devout member of the M. E. church South, and has been a member of that church ever since she can remember, and her faithful life accounts for her happy, contented spirit. Her children are Mrs. William Carter and Mrs. Frank Compton of Burlington Junction, Mrs. M. C. Cain of Wilcox, J. W. Brogan of Cheyenne, Wyo.; R. B. Brogan of Cato, Mo.; Mrs. Ada M. Jones of Maryville, and Mrs. Jennie Heflin of Lawrence, Kan.

LEFT FOR CANEY.

Deputy Sheriff Took Harry Johnson There, Where He is Wanted.

Burt Ziegerfuss, deputy sheriff of Montgomery county, Kansas., arrived in Maryville Tuesday and took Harry Johnson back to Caney, Kan., where he is wanted on a charge of grand larceny. They left on the afternoon Burlington train for Caney.

A. Dusenberry, who is in charge of the electric light plant at Canton, Mo., is in Maryville this week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dusenberry.

Mrs. Melvin Duncan of Kansas City, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Searcy, the past two weeks, returned to her home Monday morning.

James Felix, a student of the veterinary college of St. Joseph, spent Sunday in Maryville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Felix.

Mrs. George Pat Wright went to Graham Tuesday for a few days' visit with her father, W. G. Wilson, who is visiting at that place.

Mrs. H. F. Barkhaus returned to her home in Parnell Monday, after a several days' visit with her sister, Mrs. U. S. Wright.

Mrs. M. A. Turner went to Savannah Monday morning.

Donald Cady arrived in Maryville Tuesday.

TWO YEARS AT PEN

SENTENCE OF HARRISON COUNTY BOY FOR FORGERY.

MADE PLEA OF GUILTY

Asked for Parole, Which Was Refused, But Judge Permitted Withdrawal of Plea.

Herbert Gray, 21 years old, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Ellison in circuit court Tuesday morning when he pleaded guilty to forging a check. Attorney Hughes of Bethany, the young man's lawyer, asked for a parole, but the court refused to grant it, and told him that he could withdraw the plea of guilty and have the case presented to a jury at this term of court. Attorney Hughes and Mr. Gray, father of the young man, had not made up their minds up to press time this afternoon whether they would take the case to a jury, but it was thought they would accept the sentence of the court.

The offense for which Gray is sentenced occurred at Burlington Junction on September 4. Gray is alleged to have forged the name of Blaine Rhoades to a check for $7, which was cashed at the Greenelsh restaurant When the check was presented at the bank it was turned down.

Young Gray comes of a prominent and wealthy family of Ridgeway, Harrison county, Mo. He had been away from home for some time, traveling around over the country.

Visited Sister Over Sunday.

Visited Her Brother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Taylor of Topeka, Kan., who have been visiting Mrs. Taylor's brother, Dumont Murphy, and family of Burlington Junction, were in Maryville Monday evening enroute home.

Left for Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Allen and daughter, Lenore, of Stanberry, were in Maryville Monday morning on their way to Inglewood, Okla., to visit Mr. Allen's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Allen, and his brother, James Allen.

On Business Trip.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Ft. Murray, Col., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Bright, went to Clyde Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Frank Foy of Creston, Ia., was in the city Tuesday forenoon, returning home from Burlington Junction, where she has been caring for her sick mother, Mrs. E. Barker.

Mrs. John A. Cook of Guilford returned to her home Monday from a several days' stay with her sister Mrs. Henry Cook, who has been a patient at St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. M. B. Smith and her mother, Mrs. James Perry of Mound City, were in Maryville Monday morning, returning from a visit in Conway, Ia., with relatives.

Mrs. R. W. Harrison of Stanberry visited in Maryville Monday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ingerson.

A full program of each day's doings, with the ladies in charge, will appear Wednesday.

Married Forty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Holmes, Mrs. Alice R. Perrin and Rev. and Mrs. Lee Harrel were informal guests of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Nash Monday evening. During the evening the visitors, who happened in by chance, learned that the day was the fortieth wedding anniversary of their host and hostess. Their hosts of friends will take pleasure in assisting them to celebrate their golden wedding day.

For Colorado Guest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Montgomery will entertain with a dinner Tuesday evening as a compliment to Mrs. Montgomery's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Wesley Jones of Loveland, Col., who is their guest. The company will include old friends and acquaintances of the honor guest and are Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Rittenour, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Corwin, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wadley, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Montgomery, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Allender.

To Attend Birthday Party.

E. W. Friend of this city and his mother, Mrs. James Friend of Burlington Junction, went to Hopkins Tuesday to attend a birthday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews, living one-half mile west of Hopkins, in celebration of Mr. Andrews' birthday anniversary. Mrs. Friend's son, William Friend, is a son-in-law, and her daughter, Mrs. Allen Andrews, is a daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews. Mrs. Friend will also visit a daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Cossins, at Hopkins.

Monday Evening Recital.

A large crowd attended the Monday evening recital at Conservatory hall. The program, all piano numbers, was excellent and as follows: Halcyon Hooker, a march by Krogman; Mildred Palmer, Fantasy by Concone; Edith Praisewater of Graham, Mazurka by Bachman; Hattie Mae Taylor, waltz by Lynes; Hazel Everhart, March of a Marionette by Gounod; Allie Fraser, Forest Sounds by Denna; Daisy Butner of Quitman, Liebestraum in A flat by Liszt; Etta Edison of New Hampton, Spring Dawn by Mason; Madge McMahon of Fairfax, Valse No. 3 by Godard; Lola Wright, Sailor's Song by Von Wilm; Flo Masters, selection from Martha by Dorn; Alpha Hinkle of Fortesque, Song Without Words by Ganz; Virdah Daniels of Barnard, Reverie by Gay.

DONATIONS FOR ORPHANS' HOME

In response to an appeal from Rev. J. T. McDonald of St. Louis, head of Missouri Home Finding Society for Children, offerings of clothing, money or anything of value to such an institution will be received Thursday, November 16, at Mark Turner's store, on East Third street. Announcement was made in behalf of Mr. McDonald and his work by all of the pastors of the city last Sunday and a committee of one from each congregation was appointed to assist in receiving the donations. Miss Mabel Martin was appointed from the Presbyterian church, Mrs. A. R. Perrin from the First M. E. church, Mrs. Henry Thorp from the M. E. church, South, Miss Alma Nash from the First Baptist church, and Mrs. M. A. Turner from the First Christian church.

Mrs. W. C. Irwin and son, Charles Irwin, of Chicago, and Mrs. Irwin's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fletcher Irwin of LaGrange, Ill., arrived in Maryville Tuesday noon on a visit with Maryville relatives.

A FINE OF $1250

WALTER CLEMMONS FINED $50 ON EACH OF TWENTY-FIVE COUNTS.

A PAROLE WAS GRANTED

Unable to Pay Costs of $300, Court Was Lenient and Granted a Stay of Execution.

Walter Clemmons of Clearmont was fined $1,250 in circuit court late Monday afternoon by Judge Ellison, when he pleaded guilty to the charge of permitting minors to play in his pool hall without the consent of their parents. The costs in the case amount to $300.

Clemmons was indicted by the February grand jury on fifteen counts. His case was set for the June term of court, but was continued until this term of court. In the meantime Prosecuting Attorney Wright issued seventeen more informations against Clemmons on the same charge. Seven of the counts against Clemmons were dismissed by Prosecuting Attorney Wright, and this left twenty-five counts to which he pleaded guilty. Monday afternoon the court fined him $50 on each count and costs.

Clemmons, however, was paroled by the court for good cause shown and promising that he will cease operating a pool hall, and on paying the costs. As the costs in the case amount to $300, Clemmons told the court that he could not pay that much, and it was finally arranged that on payment of $100 on the costs that a stay of execution for ninety days would be granted if he would furnish bond. Clemmons paid $100 and will furnish bond.

The case of the First National bank vs. J. F. McManus, on contract, judgment was given on demurrer for defendant, and an appeal was taken to the Kansas City court of appeals by the plaintiff, which was allowed.

The case of the state vs. C. W. Wilson, who has been in the county jail, charged with stealing a livery team from the livery stable at Barnard, pleaded not guilty. W. G. Sawyers was appointed by the court as Wilson's attorney. The case was set for November 28.

George Bragg, who is charged with grand larceny, having stolen a pig from William Mozingo, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $800. W. E. Wiles was appointed attorney for Bragg. The case will come up November 29.

Hec Maines, charged with the malicious destruction of property, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $200. The court appointed W. G. Sawyers to defend him. The case was set for November.

DIED IN TRIMBLE, O.

Amos Croy's Sister, Mrs. E. Johnson, Passed Away Sunday Evening.

Amos Croy, living east of Maryville, has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. E. Johnson, at her home in Trimble, O., Sunday evening at 4:15 o'clock. Mr. Croy is not physically able to make the trip to Ohio to attend the funeral. Mrs. Johnson and her family formerly lived on a farm west of Maryville. Her husband sold the farm to Logan Phipps on their removal to Ohio a good many years ago. She is survived by her husband and three children, Carl M. Johnson of Columbus; Earl Johnson of Cincinnati, and Miss Mae Johnson, who is an invalid at home. Mrs. Johnson was 69 years old.

OUR DEATHS.

According to Report 23,017 Deaths in Missouri for First Half of Year.

(By Dr. A. T. Fisher.)

In the table below is given the number of deaths that occurred in Missouri for the first half of the year 1911, with the principal causes. This table is from the report of the state board of health just received. By careful study we find it a very remarkable report in several ways, especially in the deaths that were in a great measure unnecessary and those due to ignorance of the simplest laws of health and sanitation. Typhoid fever—not numerous like twenty-five years ago on account of a better knowledge and care about drinking water, flies, etc., and our fear of its severity, but still too prevalent. In contrast to typhoid, we are astounded at the mortality due to measles, that "harmless" ailment to which our parents often exposed us in order to have us get them before we got beyond childhood. Unnecessary, think you? Then we look at the two scourges, tuberculosis and pneumonia, both preventable, both due to carelessness, in part due to ignorance. Another remarkable feature of this table is the comparatively small number of deaths due to those two diseases which used to be thought of with a shudder, smallpox and diphtheria. Thanks to vaccine and antitoxine and the careful system of quarantining our health authorities apply.

In fact, many of these diseases are easier prevented than cured, and some of the easiest prevented are typhoid fever, enteritis and the diarrhoeas in children, smallpox, pneumonias, tuberculosis, and most diseases of the respiratory, nervous and circulatory systems.

Good water, applied externally, internally and eternally, plus fresh air, exercise and proper diet, taken properly, tell the whole story of prevention.

Following is the report:

| Causes— | No. of deaths. |
|---|---|
| Typhoid fever | 240 |
| Smallpox | 22 |
| Measles | 538 |
| Scarlet Fever | 227 |
| Whooping cough | 199 |
| Diphtheria and croup | 256 |
| Influenza | 562 |
| Tuberculosis of lungs | 2,451 |
| Other forms of tuberculosis | 331 |
| Cancer | 934 |
| Diabetes | 162 |
| Epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis | 179 |
| Acute anterior poliomyslitis | 27 |
| Other diseases of nervous system | 2,442 |
| Pneumonia | 3,246 |
| Other diseases of respiratory system | 833 |
| Diarrhoeas and enteritis (under 2 years of age) | 621 |
| Acute nephritis and Bright's disease | 1,446 |
| The puerperal state | 314 |
| Accidents | 901 |
| Suicides | 303 |
| Homicides | 122 |

NATION TO FIGHT RHEUMATISM.

Crusade Begun Against Alarming Increase of "Weather Disease"—"Educate the Sufferers" is the Slogan.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Following the recent agitation for a national fight against consumption, extensive tests have recently been made to ascertain what is the most certain method of curing rheumatism permanently.

The claims of many prominent physicians and manufacturers of rheumatism treatments, without prejudice or favor, were taken into consideration. Evidences of cures were carefully scrutinized. T. C. Millard of Flint, Mich., the discoverer of the Fuss Rheumatism Cure, demonstrated so thoroughly the action of his remedy, its certainty, and the exceptional array of proofs, testimonial letters from chronic cases cured by it, that it was decided to sanction the use of this remedy as being the most reliable and the most definite in curative action. It was pronounced by analysis to be absolutely safe in its composition.

One of the most interesting cases noted was that of Mrs. Mary E. Thorn, 605 Pine street, Owosso, Mich., eighty-seven years old, who had been a sufferer for fourteen years, during which time no remedy was found availing. Three days after using Fuss her pains ceased and she is now pronounced cured.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help.

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

A Successful Meeting.

Rev. J. Arthur Dillinger, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong of this city, and well known here, is conducting a very successful revival meeting at Littleton, Col., a few miles from Denver. There have been seventeen additions to the church since the meeting began two weeks ago, and the meeting will continue two weeks longer. Rev. Dillinger and Rev. Claude J. Miller of the First Christian church of this city were classmates at Drake university.

Miserable Dyspeptics.

All the world looks gloomy to the man with the upset stomach. He sees the world through smoked glasses and never tries to rub off the smoke.

Cheer up, Mr. Dyspeptic, there's bright days ahead of you. Go to the Orear-Henry Drug Co. this very day and say I want a box of Mi-o-na tablets. Take them as directed, and if the misery doesn't leave your stomach and bring a sunny smile to your gloomy countenance, go and get your 50 cents back.

Left for Oklahoma.

Mrs. Gerard O. Smith and her mother, Mrs. G. DeLana, left Tuesday morning for El Reno, Okla., on a visit to Mrs. DeLana's children, John DeLana and Mrs. Lester Funk, and their families. Mrs. DeLana will remain until she is recovered from the injury to one arm and wrist, which were broken and dislocated three weeks ago.

GOOD LIVER REMEDY FREE

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloated feeling after eating, if you belch, if your skin is yellowish you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this, and one highly recommended by those who have used it, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Plainview, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from griping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SYNOPSIS

Anna Granger, devoted mother of two small children, discovers that her husband is a weak character and that he has lied to her about a woman.

Posing as Miss Dale, she becomes stenographer to Burton Temple, through whose evidence her husband has been imprisoned. She thinks Temple is the guilty man and is acting the spy to clear her husband's name for his sake and that of her children.

Anna discovers that Temple was one of her girlhood's ideals. Thinking her a single woman, he tells her her husband was a liar and perjurer.

Temple has detectives on the trail of Brady, an accomplice of Granger, looking for evidence. Anna is searching for evidence against Temple, who becomes interested in her.

Despite herself, Anna becomes fond of Temple, although determined to convict him for the honor of her boys. Temple's detectives discover Rose Fanchon, the woman for whom Granger was a thief.

Temple desires to marry Anna. She rebuffs him, questioning his honor. Temple is indicted for the crime for which Granger is suffering imprisonment.

Temple's detectives find a letter proving Granger's guilt. Temple reveals its nature to Anna, who burns it. Not knowing this, Temple proposes marriage to her.

Anna confesses that she burned the letter because of her mother love, and Temple forgives her. Granger arrives, announcing that he has been pardoned.

Granger tells her his stealing was done for her, but she speedily learns about Rose Fanchon and spurns him. He has broken jail and is shot and killed. Anna and Temple love each other.

CHAPTER X.

THAT FANCHON WOMAN.

"YOU heard, Mrs. Mason. You heard what he said." Anna sprang to her feet and whirled fiercely toward the elder woman. "Kept the securities in his own name to buy the woman he needed most; buy Rose Fanchon or buy his own wife! A moment ago you heard him practically offer them to me for my silence.

"Even then, knowing he had sold his honor for money, I was ready to believe he had done it for the best. I was ready to believe his excuse of me and the children. But he has betrayed me. His eyes smile lies; his lips speak lies; his lips"—

She rubbed her hands almost brutally over her mouth, as though trying to rub away the brand of some foul disgrace. With one last desperate effort for self mastery she walked to the door through which her husband had passed and commanded in a voice of deadly calm:

"Come out! Come here!"

"Yes, Anna, I'm here," answered he, appearing with a smile. Absorbed in his own thoughts, he had not noticed the tone of her words.

"Robert Granger, how did you dare tell me you needed me! I say, how did you dare! What kind of a—a thing are you? You thought you could buy your own wife. You'd take the money from—from Rose Fanchon—and hand it to me—to me! You don't need her just now; you need me! Rose Fanchon or me or another, it would be all the same. And that's the man I married!" She paused for a breath, spent with the fury of her scorn.

Granger stood staring whitely at her, the incarnation of shame and despair. Finally he tried weakly to set right the thing that never could be set right; tried to explain it away and bully or beg himself back into his wife's heart.

"Of course, I—er—well, Anna, I want to apologize about Rose—Rose—that Fanchon woman. It was all her fault anyhow. Men are up against an awful lot with some women. I"— With his practiced cunning he saw he was on the wrong track. He changed his tactics, little venomous bully that he was.

"When I was up there," he nodded across the Hudson, "a man came to see me one day and he said—well, of course, I laughed him down—he said my wife was living here with Burton Temple, living here with an unmarried man. Well, as I say, I laughed him down; I wouldn't let him see"—

He paused for a second, arrested by Anna's instinctive recoiling. Two little steps she took, steadying herself by both hands on the table back of her. The pupils of her gray eyes were black and big with horror.

"Oh, you needn't take it like that," he went on magnanimously. "Why, I'm not going to ask you a single question, not one. I won't try to learn how far it's gone; I'll overlook—we're both of us—well, it'll be all right. Only, really, I must ask you to come along now; I've no time to spare."

"I have met Absurdity in my time and hobnobbed with him," said Anna at length, "but I never heard anything so absurd as that. Could you really fancy, Robert Granger, that I should go with you—now?"

If she had burst upon him with a storm of words, anger, injured virtue, reproach, he might have known what to do. But this! This haughty, fine disdain! It made even him realize his own depravity.

"For a moment just now," she said, "your weakness overcame me. I was going to—God knows what I was going to do. Then you offered to buy me, my sympathy, as though I were a thing to be bargained for, along with your Rose Fanchon. And as though that were not enough, you tried to barter your children's mother's honor. You knew that every drop of my blood, every throb of my heart, was in either your own or the children's keeping. You knew it. And yet, oh, what sort of a thing are you to be made in God's image?"

Granger sank on his knees, catching at her hand. With the loss of his game went also the loss of his nerve.

"Forgive, Anna," he cried, "forgive, and come with me now."

But coldly, contemptuously, she bade him rise. "I've put you out of my life," she said.

Driven into a corner like a rat, all his despicable cruelty came out. He started as though to spring upon his wife, and Mrs. Mason screamed.

"You'll testify against me, will you?" he sneered. "Testify against your husband for a stranger? No magnifying glass needed on that; it's pretty plain. I was safely tucked away in prison. You thought you could"—

"I HAVEN'T BEEN PARDONED, ANNA; I ESCAPED!"

In answer to Mrs. Mason's scream Temple had appeared, followed by Craven. Granger looked at them sneeringly for a second, then went on in his tirade against his wife.

"You think of your children's honor, do you? Well, can you afford to let them have your name soiled with this scandal? Go to court; testify all you like in Temple's behalf, and I'll swear you've been living here with him. D'ye think the jury will accept your word in his favor without proof, mind you, when it's your husband who is accusing him and you?"

"You scoundrel!" cried Temple, making a rush upon him. "You skulking dirty little scoundrel!"

Half choking, Granger fought but he was as nothing in the hands of the enraged giant who held him. Then Craven touched his friend firmly on the arm.

"Let him go, Temple. Don't kill him. He isn't worth it."

Granger, released, still choking, managed to stammer: "I'll say it, I'll publish it. What'll you two look like then? I can block any testimony she can give. Pretty good story for the papers, eh? And they're on my side anyhow."

"He's right, Temple," whispered Craven aside. But Granger overheard and with a flash of triumph turned to his wife.

"Come along, I say. Come along—now, or I'll telephone my pretty story immediately. Once out, you know, it'll go like wildfire"—

And then, just outside the window there sounded a low, shrill whistle.

That whistle caused Granger, the momentary cruel dictator, to collapse suddenly into Granger, the cringing thief.

"They're following me; they're on my track; they'll get me! Save me! Oh, save me! I haven't been pardoned, Anna; I escaped! Don't you understand? I was a trusty"—

But the woman only stared at him dully. Mrs. Mason furtively left the room at last.

"When Mrs. Mason told me what you were doing here I knew I must get you away; I feared you would discover my guilt. That's why I came; that's why I risked getting the pardon. I thought you'd help me to get away. Oh, for God's sake, hide me, Anna!"

"They're asking for him," said Craven, returning from the hall. "They are downstairs asking for him."

"Tell them he is here," replied Anna sternly. She was adamant now.

In desperation Granger rushed to the door through which Craven had passed out and again locked it. Temple stood passively by, letting Anna work her own will. The knob of the locked door turned twice, then rattled.

The convict crept, shuddering, to his wife's feet. Then from the deep springs of her woman's tenderness there came one last drop of pity. She walked to the window and opened it. He should have his last chance.

He comprehended and, with one last grateful look at her, darted through the window into the blackness of the night.

Anna dropped tremblingly into a chair and peered fixedly, strainedly, out into the darkness.

The sharp report of a pistol rang out, followed by a second and a third. The woman in the chair moaned.

In a few minutes Craven came to the door and rattled again. Temple unlocked it and met him on the threshold.

"It's all over with Granger," said Craven. "He's dead." Then at a look from Temple he retreated, leaving the two alone.

"You heard?" asked the man gravely. The woman bowed her head a little lower in a sort of requiem prayer. Then:

"Poor, poor Robert!" murmured she, the pity of her heart surging to her lips.

For an indefinite space there was silence, she praying, he, standing by the mantel, reverently guarding her.

But presently as she began to sob "My boys, oh, I want my boys," he crossed over to her. He laid his hand protectingly on the bent, shining head.

"We'll get them, dear," he said simply.

She looked up, dazed for a second, pushing her way back to him through a blur of tears.

He knelt beside her; he took her little cold hands in his and tried to warm them against his cheek, wet like her own. She seemed so frail now, so slight a thing, so helpless to battle against such great odds. He yearned to comfort her and gather her to him as he would a child.

But gently she fended him off.

"Not yet, not quite yet, not tonight. But, oh, if you knew how the heavens were opening to me, beloved!" Her eyes shone upon him like stars. "I don't think that anything, anything, anything in the whole wide world can ever make me feel tired again. My fighting hope is at rest, and my boys will learn from a man how they shall be men."

THE END.

He Was No Shirk.

In an Illinois town you can find on the map the fire department has an excellent record for conscientiousness and devotion to duty. One night the church bell rang out clearly an alarm with the code taps that indicated "fire north of square."

In an instant response the fire department jumped on his horse and galloped to the rescue. He had not gone far when a second alarm announced a second fire, this time to the south. An anxious citizen speeding toward his south side property called out to the passing marshal:

"Hi, Jake! You're headed the wrong way! There's a big blaze at Grening's."

The fireman was no shirk. "Keep it a-goin', Ed!" he shouted. "I'll be over in less 'en ten minutes!"—Everybody's Magazine.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

We Guarantee to Relieve Dyspepsia. If We Fail the Medicine Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people that indigestion and dyspepsia can be permanently relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will bring about this result, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give satisfaction to any one using it.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is carefully prepared so as to develop its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid. Without it the digestion and assimilation of food are impossible.

The Carminatives possess properties which aid in relieving the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food. This combination of these ingredients makes a remedy invaluable for the complete relief of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so certain of this that we urge you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on our own personal guarantee. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store — The Rexall Store. The Orear-Henry Drug Co., 113 North Main Street.

GRAIN ELEVATION CASE IS SETTLED

Western Railroads May Pay for Service in Transit.

MISSOURI DECISION IS UPHELD

Long Contest Involving Greatest Commercial Interests in Southwest Ends in Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The long contest over the power of the interstate commerce commission to prohibit railroads from paying to operators of elevators all compensation for "elevating grain in transit" was finally decided when the United States supreme court held the commission possessed no such power.

A decision was necessitated because the commission in 1908 issued an order exercising this power. The United States circuit court for Western Missouri subsequently held the order null and void because beyond the authority of the commission to issue. Probably the greatest commercial interests in the Mississippi Valley were involved in the contest. The Union Pacific and other railroads with Eastern terminals at Missouri river cities contended that unless they were permitted to pay for elevation of grain in transit they would be driven out of the business by the competition of roads that do not terminate at Missouri river cities.

Railroads with Western terminals at these cities put in a similar complaint. Elevator men, through the respective boards of trade, declared their business would be ruined by such an order.

On the other hand, the railroads running east and west of the Missouri river were in favor of the order. St. Louis and other grain centers on the Mississippi river also favored it.

In holding that the commission could not issue such an order, the circuit court said the law merely gave the commission power to see that a just and reasonable rate was fixed for this service of elevation, a part of transportation, which the railroads must furnish on demand. From this the court arrived at the conclusion that the commission by implication was forbidden from prohibiting all compensation for elevation.

The commission considered that Peavey & Co., owners of elevators at Missouri river points and a big shipper of grain, likewise would unjustly profit by the allowance for elevation to Peavey & Co.

The supreme court held that the order of the commission reducing the allowance for elevation to the cost of the service, namely three-fourths of a cent, should be allowed to stand. The court also allowed to stand the so-called Peavey order of 1909 insofar as it confined the allowance to grain reshipped within ten days. Except as to these two points, the decree of the United States circuit court for Western Missouri in regard to the elevation charges was affirmed.

MURDER CONFESSION WAS FAKE

Chicago Police Say St. Joseph Suspect Was Playing for Free Transportation.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Police Inspector Revere, after a thorough investigation said he was prepared to discredit the confession of George C. Papineau, made at St. Joseph, Mo., in which Papineau said he murdered a man named William Blake in Chicago last June.

"Papineau told the Blake murder story in order to be brought back to Chicago and escape trial and possible punishment at St. Joseph," said inspector Revere.

The police said they had learned that on June 9—the date of the alleged murder—Papineau was found overcome by the heat on the North Side and was taken to a hospital by the police department.

Another Identifies Cravens.

Guthrie, Ok., Nov. 14.—Adjt. Gen. Frank Canton visited the federal jail here with a deputy marshal, Chris Madsen. He is satisfied that Charles Maust, who was released five days ago from the Missouri state penitentiary, is Ben Cravens, the Oklahoma outlaw, under indictment here since 1900 for the murder of Alvin Bateman.

Enjoins a City Light Plant.

Chillicothe, Mo., Nov. 14.—Papers were served on Mayor Boehner and the members of the council by F. S. Hudson of this city, attorney for the People's Gas and Electric company, asking for an injunction restraining the city of Chillicothe from starting its new $50,000 electric light plant, which has just been completed.

Railway Clerks Get Raise.

Washington, Nov. 14.—President Finley of the Southern railway company announces that, in recognition of the value of their service and their loyalty to the interests of the company, the salaries of its clerical employes heretofore receiving $70 a month or less will be advanced.

DREW A TIMES CONTRACTOR

McNamara Venire Has Man Who Put Up Steel for New Building.

STRIKE IN PROGRESS ON HIS JOB

Famous Case Drags Slowly Five Venires Being Exhausted With But Three Jurors Accepted.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Six talesmen, accepted as to cause, and three sworn jurors were in the box at the close of the session of the James B. McNamara trial. Five venires have been exhausted and another of 40 men were drawn and instructed to report for duty.

The list contains the name of Milo A. Baker, vice president and superintendent of the Baker Iron Works, which is doing the structural steel work of the new Los Angeles Times building, and against which a strike called by the International association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers officially is in progress. This is the organization of which John J. McNamara, jointly indicted with his brother, James B., is secretary. Milo Baker is a brother of Fred L. Baker, president of the company, whose large residence in the northern part of the city has been under a special system of outside lighting and guarding since a dynamite explosion occurred last December at an iron plant against which a strike had been declared.

The talesmen passed were: Willett Brunner, railroad engineer; T. B. Green, stock raiser, and A. Gribling, retired harness maker.

E. M. Atkinson, president of a casket making company was excused after declaring that he believed the defendants were trying to prevent the state bringing from Indianapolis to Los Angeles evidence which he understood to be desired in the case, and were trying to keep Mrs. Ortie E. Manigal from testifying.

"Do you know that the Indianapolis contest is being waged by the Bridge and Structural Iron workers, and not by these defendants?" Attorney Lecompte Davis asked Atkinson.

"I believe they are the same to all intents," replied Atkinson.

Talesmen Green and Brunner qualified after brief examination. Gribling was qualified over a challenge preferred by the state on the ground that he had said he would not convict in capital cases on circumstantial evidence. Gribling said he would so convict if the evidence were sufficiently strong, and the court denied the challenge.

A tall blonde man with an English hat and accent came to court with Malcolm McLaren, operative of the detective agency which brought about the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal. Report had it that he was a Scotland Yard detective. McLaren said he was a barrister.

COLUMBIA TO ENTERTAIN MANY

Dinners and Parties for Alumni on Eve of Football Game Keep Students Busy.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—More than 2,500 invitations have been sent out by the sororities and fraternities at the University of Missouri to alumni in the state to attend dinners and parties here the night before the annual Missouri-Kansas football game, November 25. Probably the most noted alumnus who has promised to come is Speaker Champ Clark. Mr. Clark is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and will act as toastmaster at the dinner at the chapter house. Nearly 300 invitations have been issued for this dinner alone.

Practically every dining hall in town has been engaged for the night before the game. Some of the fraternities are already engaging cooks, and negroes who can wait on the table are at a premium. Many of the dinners will be followed by a dance.

The day of the game the alumni association in Columbia will entertain visiting alumni. In the rooms of the University Dining club coffee, sandwiches and other refreshments will be served free at the noon hour to all former students who come to see the game.

Shot Himself in a Dream.

Chickasha, Ok., Nov. 14.—Thomas Burke, an old Indian fighter, and for 20 years deputy United States marshal in this district, shot himself in a dream here. Burke slept at the Royal hotel with his revolver under his pillow. In a nightmare he believed he was pursuing a train robber, seized his revolver and pulled the trigger. The bullet went through the pillow and struck him in the lower jaw.

Apples Growers in a Congress.

Denver, Nov. 14.—More than 4,000 visitors from all of the 20 states which are represented in the exhibits are in attendance at the American Apple congress here. In the exhibits are products from Texas, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, California, Oregon, Washington, Utah and New Mexico. British Columbia also is represented.

SHE DIED TO SAVE ANOTHER

WOMAN TELLS NEW STORY OF DR. KNABE'S DEATH.

Claims Woman Doctor Gave Two Quarts of Blood to Save a Life—Patient Now Recovering.

Elwood, Ind., Nov. 14.—Interest in the mysterious death of Dr. Helene Knabe, the Indianapolis physician who was found dead in her apartments with her throat slashed, has shifted to this city as a result of the appearance of a woman who represented herself as Dr. Carrie Gregory.

She said she was seeking a nurse who had disappeared from Indianapolis. If the young woman, whose name was Mills, could be found, the mystery would be cleared, she declared. Her theory was neither suicide nor murder, viewed from a scientific standpoint.

She says the death came about through an attempt to further science. She asserts that a patient in whom Dr. Knabe and two other physicians were deeply interested had an ailment that was drying up the blood. It was the theory of Dr. Knabe that the woman's life could be saved if two quarts of blood could be obtained from a healthy person to be injected into the patient's veins.

Finally the woman physician, in her enthusiasm, decided to give two quarts of her own blood. But taking so much of her blood resulted fatally and the other two physicians slashed her throat in order to make it appear she had been murdered. She says this is why the amount of blood on the bed was much smaller than would have been the case if her throat had been slashed while she was alive.

She says, however, that the woman for whom Dr. Knabe sacrificed her life to further science, received the blood of Dr. Knabe into her veins, and is at this time in an Indianapolis hospital, on the way to recovery.

TEACHES BOYS TO CRACK SAFES

School of Correspondence in Indiana Discovered Through Colorado Youth.

Grand Junction, Col. Nov. 14.—Somewhere in Indiana there is a school that teaches by correspondence how to crack safes, money vaults and slot machines, according to Sheriff Schrader of Mesa county, who said that he has come into possession of books containing a clever treatise on the construction of safes and every make of vault used for the storage of valuables.

Sheriff Schrader said that he has been working on the matter for several days and that he is in correspondence with officials in Indiana. He declines to state the name of the city in Indiana where the school is located, but says he will make public all the information he has at hand within a few days. He also refuses to give the name of the institution.

The books were found in the possession of an 18-year-old boy arrested for the theft of tools from a local store. The boy said they had been sent to him through the mails from Indiana, but he declined to give any further information.

TO PROSECUTE MINE OPERATORS

Contempt for Safety Laws Causes Kansas Officials to Take Action.

Topeka, Nov. 14.—The attorney general is going to help make the mine operators in Southeast Kansas obey the safety laws.

"There is a supreme contempt for the safety laws in the state down there," said W. P. Montgomery, assistant attorney general for Crawford county.

"The complaint of the mine inspector, Leon Besson, that the county attorney was not doing anything came about as a misunderstanding and I don't believe there will be any more complaints.

"Under instructions from John Dawson, attorney general, I have notified the mine inspector and the county attorney that the attorney general will give all the help the state has in any complaint or prosecution. These mine operators are going to be prosecuted thoroughly."

Operation for Cowgill.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 14.—James Cowgill ,state treasurer, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. William E. Spratt, here, has gone to Rochester, Minn., to undergo another operation. Mr. Cowgill was operated on last summer. When he came home it was said he would have to return for supplemental treatment. It is believed this operation will not be dangerous and that he will be out of the hospital in two or three weeks.

Plan a Phthisis Fight.

Jefferson City, Nov. 14.—At the meeting here of the State Anti-tuberculosis association it was decided to attempt to raise $10,000 or more to carry on its work in Missouri next year. The association now owes about $100.

Killed in a Rabbit Hunt.

Hutchinson, Kan., Nov. 14.—The first hunting fatality of the year occurred here when M. H. Bright, a farm hand, was shot by W. Sanford, his friend, while the two were rabbit hunting. Bright died in a hospital.

THE COMMERCIAL CONGRESS OPENS

Twenty-Second Annual Session Most Important in History.

PLAN PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

Unification of All Interests West of Mississippi River is Hope of Leaders in Movement.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—The twenty-second annual session of the Trans-Mississippi congress, which opened at the Shubert theater, will probably be the most important session of the congress ever held, for the leaders in the work of the congress for the past five or six years will try to put through their plan for permanent organization. The executive committee has worked for some time on the plan for permanent organization, which will be presented for the consideration of the delegates.

The plan embraces the unification of all the commercial interests west of the Mississippi river into a businesslike and compact body, with all the year around headquarters and working force, that will work constantly every month of the year for the promotion of Western prosperity. Hitherto the Trans-Mississippi congress has annually stirred up interest in reclamation, irrigation, river improvement and other projects, which interest has been allowed to die down during the rest of the year.

Every commercial body west of the Mississippi river will be invited to have representatives in the permanent congress. Representation from states will be based on the congressional representation. Twenty-five states are expected to join the movement. There will be three directors from each of the 25 states and territories west of the Mississippi river, including Hawaii and Alaska.

It is the privilege of delegates to present in 5-minute speeches resolutions on any subject. Most of these resolutions, it is expected, will be presented at the morning session. Then the program committee will meet to outline the program for the rest of the week, taking into consideration the resolutions presented.

The storms in the Rocky Mountains delayed the arrival of Western delegates, but Arthur Francis, permanent secretary of the congress, predicted that more than 1,200 delegates would be on hand before the close of the convention.

SHOT HIS WIFE BY ACCIDENT

Young Farmer Was Cleaning Gun Preparatory to Hunting Trip—Married But a Year.

Gallatin, Mo., Nov. 14.—Wora Wynne, a young Daviess county farmer, shot and killed his wife at their home east of Jameson. The shooting is believed to have been accidental. Mr. Wynne and his wife were alone when it occurred and neighbors who were immediately summoned found the woman dead on the kitchen floor with a fork in her hand. Wynne says he was cleaning his gun preparatory to going hunting and his wife was busy about getting breakfast, when the gun accidentally went off and the charge of shot struck his wife, who was only a few feet away. Wynne is 19 years old, and his wife was 22. They were married one year ago and both come of good families. No trouble is known to have existed and Wynne's story of the shooting is generally believed, but the prosecuting attorney and coroner believe it best that an inquest be held.

To Stop Bets in Kansas.

Topeka, Nov. 14.—John S. Dawson, attorney general, has filed in the supreme court a quo warranto suit to test the right of Kansas fairs to allow betting on horse racing. The law is ambiguous. The suit was brought against the Anthony Fair association of Harper county. One section absolutely prohibits betting of any kind or the making of pools on horse racing. Another section makes an exception of two weeks each year for each county when fairs may provide betting rings and offer to make pools on the races.

Plan a State School Tax.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—A campaign is to be started at once for an amendment to the state constitution providing for a 1-mill tax to maintain the public schools of Missouri, including the state university and the normal schools. The teachers of the state at their annual convention in Hannibal passed a resolution for arranging the amendment. A committee is to be appointed at once to begin the work of circulating the petition necessary to bring it up at the next general election.

Japan's Ambassador Coming.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Formal notice of the purpose of the Japanese government to appoint Baron Chiuda ambassador in Washington to succeed Viscount Uchida, who was made minister of foreign affairs, has reached Washington.

DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1911. NO. 140.

NO RAILROAD THEN

MONDAY WAS 42D ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING OF DEMOCRAT.

MOREHOUSE AND BUELL

Were First Owners—First Issue Contained Account of Grand Excursion Planned to St. Joseph.

Forty-two years ago Monday, or November 13, 1869, appeared the first issue of the Nodaway Democrat, later merged with the Forum, and now The Democrat-Forum. The paper was started by A. P. Morehouse, who was later lieutenant-governor and also governor of Missouri to fill out the unexpired term of Governor Marmaduke, who died while in office. His partner was A. C. Buell.

At the time the paper was started there was no railroad entering the town. However, a railroad was being built from Kansas City and St. Joseph through Maryville on north, and the railroad was about completed to this city. The following item taken from the first issue might be of interest to many:

"A meeting was held on Friday evening last at the court house, and preliminary steps were taken to prepare a grand reception dinner to be given the excursionists expected here on the completion of the railroad to this point from Kansas City and St. Joseph. Measures were also taken to organize for a grand excursion to the above named cities from Maryville and Nodaway county.

"The meeting was organized by calling Hon. M. G. Roseberry to the chair, and J. Edwards secretary.

"Mr. I. V. McMillan stated the object of the meeting.

"Committee on correspondence—I. V. McMillan, Thomas Brown and L. Dawson.

"Committee on donations—Col. F. Libby, John Allen, Esq., William Anderson, D. E. Laffer, L. Dawson, Mrs. Morehouse, Mrs. Lewis, Miss M. V. Prather, Mrs. Hastings, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Morton and Mrs. F. Smith.

Comparatively a New County Then.

An editorial in the paper on Nodaway county might also be interesting reading to many. It follows:

"There is, we think, no section of the west that offers more inducements to emigration at the present time than Nodaway county. Our healthful climate, deep rich soil, and broad expansive prairies, interspersed with numerous groves, and running brooks, which only await the husbandman's touch to make the same groan with a bountiful harvest, invites emigration. It is true that ours is comparatively a new country. The wigwam of the Indian has but recently passed away, and the path and wallow of the buffalo are yet visible on a hundred hills in the country. It has been but about thirteen years since most of the land in the county was entered from the government, although the county was settled several years earlier. But in this short period improvement and progress have not been idle. We can boast of as honest, industrious and enterprising a class of citizens as may be found in any of the eastern states. Almost every neighborhood is provided with a convenient school house, with sufficient public school money to support a school from four to six months in the year. We have a railroad being built from St. Joseph up the valley of the 102 river, in the direction of Des Moines, Ia., which, in all probability, will be completed to that point in one year. This will open up communication with the east, via the H. & St. J. R. R. on the south and with the Burlington & Missouri River railroad on the north. We also have a very flattering prospect for a railroad from Quincy, Ill., to Brownville, Neb., which will extend and connect with the Pacific road near Ft. Kearney. Surely with all these advantages, with the start that nature gave us, we are sure of success. But these are not all the inducements that we can offer the emigrant. We have within the limits of the county at least 300,000 acres of unimproved land, the most of which can be bought at prices ranging from $5 to $10 per acre—none of it being situated so far from timber but that one man can put in cultivation and fence forty acres in one year. There is not perhaps a quarter section of land in the county but that will sell for $50 to $75 per acre in the older states. Our improvements thus far have been slow, but in most instances substantial, and now with all the enumerated advantages, and prospects for more, we shall in the next twelve months increase in population and wealth more than we have in eight years past. We have an area in square miles almost as large as the state of Rhode Island, and can support a greater agricultural population. Therefore, we would advise those who desire to seek homes in the west to come to Nodaway county and see for themselves."

EXPERTS INFORM BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS TO THAT EFFECT.

WILL BE MADE PUBLIC

As Soon as Report Can Be Approved the Board Will Proceed to Act in Interests of City.

The board of public works has received word from the engineers that were hired to take the valuation of the water company's plant that their report is now ready and will be sent almost any day soon.

The reports of the two engineering firms will be made public. While no one knows the nature of their report, still it will be placed on the city records.

If the report is approved by the board of public works or the city, work will commence at once either looking forward to buying the water plant, if the city water company will take a reasonable price or about what it is worth, or in constructing a new water works system here.

A GOOD RAILROAD MEETING.

A Representative Gathering at St. Joseph Sunday Was Attended by Agent W. E. Goforth.

Agent W. E. Goforth of the Burlington railway, of this city, attended a meeting of railroad men in St. Joseph Sunday. The meeting was well attended by representatives from Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Burlington, Ia., and other points.

The Burlington railway has been holding meetings for some time at various points along its lines for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to improved service in both freight and passenger service, and schemes for improved methods in bringing about more efficient service to the public in all lines of railroad work are thoroughly considered by these men.

A great deal of good is accomplished for all concerned, and the interests of the company and the public become mutual through the meeting of the officials and their employees, and they are as informal as a family gathering.

Called by Father's Illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade of Fairfield, Ia., were called to Maryville Saturday by the illness of Mr. Wade's father, O. P. Wade. Mr. Wade was taken quite sick Thursday with neuralgia of the heart, which threaten pneumonia. He is much better now and his son and his wife left for their home Tuesday noon. Mrs. Charles Wade expects to go to Litchfield, Ill., soon to visit her sister, Mrs. Veno Rieves, formerly Miss Ethel Karnes of this city. Her mother, Mrs. J. A. Karnes, formerly of this city, is visiting with her daughter in Illinois, and they will all return to Fairfield with Mrs. Wade for a visit.

Mrs. J. E. Orme returned Monday morning from a week's visit at Pickering with her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Houston.

MRS. DOCIA BROGAN CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY MONDAY.

LIVED HERE SINCE 1855

Aged Woman, Whose Experience of Life Runs Past the Traditional Three Score and Ten.

Mrs. Docia Brogan, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ada Jones, at 202 East First street, celebrated her eighty-first birthday anniversary Monday, November 13, at her daughter's home. Mrs. Jones planned a post card shower for her mother, and the "shower" is continuing to fall generously. Mrs. Brogan also received other nice tokens of remembrance. She is in excellent health and appears ten years younger than she is ,while she is as sprightly and takes as much interest in household affairs as many young women.

Mrs. Brogan has lived in Nodaway county since 1855, when she came here with her husband not long after they were married, from their home, near Knoxville, Tenn. They settled on a farm twelve miles northwest of Maryville, two miles north of where Wilcox now is, which was her home until recent years. Her husband, the late Joel D. Brogan, died twenty years ago. When they settled on their farm there was but one house between their home and Maryville, and Maryville, she said, was not as large as Wilcox now is. They had to go to Savannah when they went to mill.

The hardest times she ever knew was during the war, when her husband enlisted for service in the Union army and served until the close of the war. She managed the farm alone, spun, wove and made all the clothing she and her children wore, and raised the cotton and flax from which it was made. She made what few trips to town were necessary on horseback, taking her little ones with her, and her remembrance of the long, cold winters that were common in those early days are not pleasant to think of. But the years of happiness and prosperity that followed have in a measure atoned for those early experiences, and she is a happy woman, "all but one thing," she said, "and that is, if only all my children could be where I could see and talk with them every day."

Mrs. Brogan is a devout member of the M. E. church South, and has been a member of that church ever since she can remember, and her faithful life accounts for her happy, contented spirit. Her children are Mrs. William Carter and Mrs. Frank Compton of Burlington Junction, Mrs. M. C. Cain of Wilcox, J. W. Brogan of Cheyenne, Wyo.; R. B. Brogan of Cato, Mo.; Mrs. Ada M. Jones of Maryville, and Mrs. Jennie Heflin of Lawrence, Kan.

TWO YEARS AT PEN

SENTENCE OF HARRISON COUNTY BOY FOR FORGERY.

MADE PLEA OF GUILTY

Asked for Parole, Which Was Refused, But Judge Permitted Withdrawal of Plea.

Herbert Gray, 21 years old, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Ellison in circuit court Tuesday morning when he pleaded guilty to forging a check. Attorney Hughes of Bethany, the young man's lawyer, asked for a parole, but the court refused to grant it, and told him that he could withdraw the plea of guilty and have the case presented to a jury at this term of court. Attorney Hughes and Mr. Gray, father of the young man, had not made up their minds up to press time this afternoon whether they would take the case to a jury, but it was thought they would accept the sentence of the court.

The offense for which Gray is sentenced occurred at Burlington Junction on September 4. Gray is alleged to have forged the name of Blaine Rhoades to a check for $7, which was cashed at the Greenelsh restaurant When the check was presented at the bank it was turned down.

Young Gray comes of a prominent and wealthy family of Ridgeway, Harrison county, Mo. He had been away from home for some time, traveling around over the country.

Visited Sister Over Sunday.

Visited Her Brother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Taylor of Topeka, Kan., who have been visiting Mrs. Taylor's brother, Dumont Murphy, and family of Burlington Junction, were in Maryville Monday evening enroute home.

Left for Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Allen and daughter, Lenore, of Stanberry, were in Maryville Monday morning on their way to Inglewood, Okla., to visit Mr. Allen's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Allen, and his brother, James Allen.

On Business Trip.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Ft. Murray, Col., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Bright, went to Clyde Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Frank Foy of Creston, Ia., was in the city Tuesday forenoon, returning home from Burlington Junction, where she has been caring for her sick mother, Mrs. E. Barker.

Mrs. John A. Cook of Guilford returned to her home Monday from a several days' stay with her sister Mrs. Henry Cook, who has been a patient at St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. M. B. Smith and her mother, Mrs. James Perry of Mound City, were in Maryville Monday morning, returning from a visit in Conway, Ia., with relatives.

Mrs. R. W. Harrison of Stanberry visited in Maryville Monday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ingerson.

DONATIONS FOR ORPHANS' HOME

Will Be Received at Mary Turner's Store Thursday, November 16.

In response to an appeal from Rev. J. T. McDonald of St. Louis, head of Missouri Home Finding Society for Children, offerings of clothing, money or anything of value to such an institution will be received Thursday, November 16, at Mark Turner's store, on East Third street. Announcement was made in behalf of Mr. McDonald and his work by all of the pastors of the city last Sunday and a committee of one from each congregation was appointed to assist in receiving the donations. Miss Mabel Martin was appointed from the Presbyterian church, Mrs. A. R. Perrin from the First M. E. church, Mrs. Henry Thorp from the M. E. church, South, Miss Alma Nash from the First Baptist church, and Mrs. M. A. Turner from the First Christian church.

Mrs. W. C. Irwin and son, Charles Irwin, of Chicago, and Mrs. Irwin's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fletcher Irwin of LaGrange, Ill., arrived in Maryville Tuesday noon on a visit with Maryville relatives.

A FINE OF $1250

A PAROLE WAS GRANTED

Unable to Pay Costs of $300, Court Was Lenient and Granted a Stay of Execution.

Walter Clemmons of Clearmont was fined $1,250 in circuit court late Monday afternoon by Judge Ellison, when he pleaded guilty to the charge of permitting minors to play in his pool hall without the consent of their parents. The costs in the case amount to $300.

Clemmons was indicted by the February grand jury on fifteen counts. His case was set for the June term of court, but was continued until this term of court. In the meantime Prosecuting Attorney Wright issued seventeen more informations against Clemmons on the same charge. Seven of the counts against Clemmons were dismissed by Prosecuting Attorney Wright, and this left twenty-five counts to which he pleaded guilty. Monday afternoon the court fined him $50 on each count and costs.

Clemmons, however, was paroled by the court for good cause shown and promising that he will cease operating a pool hall, and on paying the costs. As the costs in the case amount to $300, Clemmons told the court that he could not pay that much, and it was finally arranged that on payment of $100 on the costs that a stay of execution for ninety days would be granted if he would furnish bond. Clemmons paid $100 and will furnish bond.

The case of the First National bank vs. J. F. McManus, on contract, judgment was given on demurrer for defendant, and an appeal was taken to the Kansas City court of appeals by the plaintiff, which was allowed.

The case of the state vs. C. W. Wilson, who has been in the county jail, charged with stealing a livery team from the livery stable at Barnard, pleaded not guilty. W. G. Sawyers was appointed by the court as Wilson's attorney. The case was set for November 28.

George Bragg, who is charged with grand larceny, having stolen a pig from William Mozingo, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $800. W. E. Wiles was appointed attorney for Bragg. The case will come up November 29.

Hec Maines, charged with the malicious destruction of property, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $200. The court appointed W. G. Sawyers to defend him. The case was set for November.

DIED IN TRIMBLE, O.

Amos Croy's Sister, Mrs. E. Johnson, Passed Away Sunday Evening.

Amos Croy, living east of Maryville, has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. E. Johnson, at her home in Trimble, O., Sunday evening at 4:15 o'clock. Mr. Croy is not physically able to make the trip to Ohio to attend the funeral. Mrs. Johnson and her family formerly lived on a farm west of Maryville. Her husband sold the farm to Logan Phipps on their removal to Ohio a good many years ago. She is survived by her husband and three children, Carl M. Johnson of Columbus; Earl Johnson of Cincinnati, and Miss Mae Johnson, who is an invalid at home. Mrs. Johnson was 69 years old.

OUR DEATHS.

According to Report 23,017 Deaths in Missouri for First Half of Year.

(By Dr. A. T. Fisher.)

In the table below is given the number of deaths that occurred in Missouri for the first half of the year 1911, with the principal causes. This table is from the report of the state board of health just received. By careful study we find it a very remarkable report in several ways, especially in the deaths that were in a great measure unnecessary and those due to ignorance of the simplest laws of health and sanitation. Typhoid fever—not numerous like twenty-five years ago on account of a better knowledge and care about drinking water, flies, etc., and our fear of its severity, but still too prevalent. In contrast to typhoid, we are astounded at the mortality due to measles, that "harmless" ailment to which our parents often exposed us in order to have us get them before we got beyond childhood. Unnecessary, think you? Then we look at the two scourges, tuberculosis and pneumonia, both preventable, both due to carelessness, in part due to ignorance. Another remarkable feature of this table is the comparatively small number of deaths due to those two diseases which used to be thought of with a shudder, smallpox and diphtheria. Thanks to vaccine and antitoxine and the careful system of quarantining our health authorities apply.

In fact, many of these diseases are easier prevented than cured, and some of the easiest prevented are typhoid fever, enteritis and the diarrhoeas in children, smallpox, pneumonias, tuberculosis, and most diseases of the respiratory, nervous and circulatory systems.

Good water, applied externally, internally and eternally, plus fresh air, exercise and proper diet, taken properly, tell the whole story of prevention.

Following is the report:

| Causes— | No. of deaths. |
|---|---|
| Typhoid fever | 240 |
| Smallpox | 22 |
| Measles | 538 |
| Scarlet Fever | 227 |
| Whooping cough | 199 |
| Diphtheria and croup | 256 |
| Influenza | 562 |
| Tuberculosis of lungs | 2,451 |
| Other forms of tuberculosis | 331 |
| Cancer | 934 |
| Diabetes | 162 |
| Epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis | 179 |
| Acute anterior poliomyslitis | 27 |
| Other diseases of nervous system | 2,442 |
| Pneumonia | 3,246 |
| Other diseases of respiratory system | 833 |
| Diarrhoeas and enteritis (under 2 years of age) | 621 |
| Acute nephritis and Bright's disease | 1,446 |
| The puerperal state | 314 |
| Accidents | 901 |
| Suicides | 303 |
| Homicides | 122 |
| Other causes | 4,993 |
| Total | 23,017 |

St. Louis Live Stock Market.

National Stock Yards, Ill., Nov. 13.—Cattle receipts, 3,000. All killing cattle 15@25c higher for the day and with the close of last week. The fleshy and medium classes had the big end of the advance, due to the scarcity of Texas cattle today. It looks as though receipts will be light the balance of the week, and this advance will likely be maintained. Nothing very good here.

Hog receipts, 10,000. Market active and 5@10c higher; top, $6.60; bulk, $6.30@6.50.

Sheep receipts, 2,200. Lambs strong today but 15@25c lower than last Monday. Choice lambs quotable to $6.00. Sheep 10@15c higher today, but 10c lower than last Monday. Fat ewes topped at $3.50.

Saved Many From Death.

W. L. Mock of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affections, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it is the best throat and lung medicine that is made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by the Orear-Henry Drug Co.

NATION TO FIGHT RHEUMATISM.

Crusade Began Against Alarming Increase of "Weather Disease"—"Educate the Sufferers" is the Slogan.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Following the recent agitation for a national fight against consumption, extensive tests have recently been made to ascertain what is the most certain method of curing rheumatism permanently.

The claims of many prominent physicians and manufacturers of rheumatism treatments, without prejudice or favor, were taken into consideration. Evidences of cures were carefully scrutinized. T. C. Millard of Flint, Mich., the discoverer of the Fuss Rheumatism Cure, demonstrated so thoroughly the action of his remedy, its certainty, and the exceptional array of proofs, testimonial letters from chronic cases cured by it, that it was decided to sanction the use of this remedy as being the most reliable and the most definite in curative action. It was pronounced by analysis to be absolutely safe in its composition.

One of the most interesting cases noted was that of Mrs. Mary E. Thorn, 605 Pine street, Owosso, Mich., eighty-seven years old, who had been a sufferer for fourteen years, during which time no remedy was found availing. Three days after using Fuss her pains ceased and she is now pronounced cured.

For sale by the Koch Pharmacy in Maryville and all leading druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 or six bottles for $5.00. Fuss Remedy Co., Flint, Mich.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help.

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Try it.

A Successful Meeting.

Rev. J. Arthur Dillinger, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong of this city, and well known here, is conducting a very successful revival meeting at Littleton, Col., a few miles from Denver. There have been seventeen additions to the church since the meeting began two weeks ago, and the meeting will continue two weeks longer. Rev. Dillinger and Rev. Claude J. Miller of the First Christian church of this city were classmates at Drake university.

Miserable Dyspeptics.

All the world looks gloomy to the man with the upset stomach. He sees the world through smoked glasses and never tries to rub off the smoke.

Cheer up, Mr. Dyspeptic, there's bright days ahead of you. Go to the Orear-Henry Drug Co. this very day and say I want a box of Mi-o-na tablets. Take them as directed, and if the misery doesn't leave your stomach and bring a sunny smile to your gloomy countenance, go and get your 50 cents back.

Left for Oklahoma.

Mrs. Gerard O. Smith and her mother, Mrs. G. DeLana, left Tuesday morning for El Reno, Okla., on a visit to Mrs. DeLana's children, John DeLana and Mrs. Lester Funk, and their families. Mrs. DeLana will remain until she is recovered from the injury to one arm and wrist, which were broken and dislocated three weeks ago.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Here on Business.

J. D. McBrian, an attorney of Sedan, Kan., was in Maryville Monday attending to business in circuit court. He was here in the interest of the children concerned in the divorce suit of Marshall Ecker vs. Rose Ecker, which was continued to the February term of court. This was Mr. McBrain's first visit to Maryville, and he was so well pleased with the appearance of our city that he will prepare to stay longer when he comes again in order to visit our State Normal and take in the surrounding country, which he has heard so much about.

Visiting Her Aunt.

Miss Marguerite Tate of Pierre, S. D., who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Frank, for several weeks, went to Bolckow Monday evening to visit another aunt, Mrs. F. I. Dunn. She will visit her cousin, Mrs. Frank Barnes of Fillmore, in company with Mrs. Dunn, before her return to Maryville.

Attorneys J. C. Growney, J. S. Shinabargar and George Robb Ellison went to Savannah Tuesday morning, where they are on business in court, which is in session at that place.

Mrs. Highland Clark returned to her home in Savannah Tuesday morning from a visit in Maryville with her brothers-in-law, A. T. and J. S. Clark, and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hamilton of Diagonal, Ia., were in Maryville Monday on their way to Bedford, Ia., to visit Mr. and Mrs. G. Loomis.

Miss Beulah Taylor, a State Normal student, spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Taylor.

GOOD LIVER REMEDY FREE

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloated feeling after eating, if you belch, if your skin is yellowish you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this, and one highly recommended by those who have used it, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Plainview, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from griping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SYNOPSIS

Anna Granger, devoted mother of two small children, discovers that her husband is a weak character and that he has lied to her about a woman.

Posing as Miss Dale, she becomes stenographer to Burton Temple, through whose evidence her husband has been imprisoned. She thinks Temple is the guilty man and is acting the spy to clear her husband's name for his sake and that of her children.

Anna discovers that Temple was one of her girlhood's ideals. Thinking her a single woman, he tells her her husband was a liar and perjurer.

Temple has detectives on the trail of Brady, an accomplice of Granger, looking for evidence. Anna is searching for evidence against Temple, who becomes interested in her.

Despite herself, Anna becomes fond of Temple, although determined to convict him for the honor of her boys. Temple's detectives discover Rose Fanchon, the woman for whom Granger was a thief.

Temple desires to marry Anna. She rebuffs him, questioning his honor. Temple is indicted for the crime for which Granger is suffering imprisonment.

Temple's detectives find a letter proving Granger's guilt. Temple reveals its nature to Anna, who burns it. Not knowing this, Temple proposes marriage to her.

Anna confesses that she burned the letter because of her mother love, and Temple forgives her. Granger arrives, announcing that he has been pardoned.

Granger tells her his stealing was done for her, but she speedily learns about Rose Fanchon and spurns him. He has broken jail and is shot and killed. Anna and Temple love each other.

CHAPTER X.

THAT FANCHON WOMAN.

"YOU heard, Mrs. Mason. You heard what he said." Anna sprang to her feet and whirled fiercely toward the elder woman. "Kept the securities in his own name to buy the woman he needed most; buy Rose Fanchon or buy his own wife! A moment ago you heard him practically offer them to me for my silence.

"Even then, knowing he had sold his honor for money, I was ready to believe he had done it for the best. I was ready to believe his excuse of me and the children. But he has betrayed me. His eyes smile lies; his lips speak lies; his lips"—

She rubbed her hands almost brutally over her mouth, as though trying to rub away the brand of some foul disgrace. With one last desperate effort for self mastery she walked to the door through which her husband had passed and commanded in a voice of deadly calm:

"Come out! Come here!"

"Yes, Anna, I'm here," answered he, appearing with a smile. Absorbed in his own thoughts, he had not noticed the tone of her words.

"Robert Granger, how did you dare tell me you needed me! I say, how did you dare! What kind of a—a thing are you? You thought you could buy your own wife. You'd take the money from—from Rose Fanchon—and hand it to me—to me! You don't need her just now; you need me! Rose Fanchon or me or another, it would be all the same. And that's the man I married!" She paused for a breath, spent with the fury of her scorn.

Granger stood staring whitely at her, the incarnation of shame and despair. Finally he tried weakly to set right the thing that never could be set right; tried to explain it away and bully or beg himself back into his wife's heart.

"Of course, I—er—well, Anna, I want to apologize about Rose—Rose—that Fanchon woman. It was all her fault anyhow. Men are up against an awful lot with some women. I"— With his practiced cunning he saw he was on the wrong track. He changed his tactics, little venomous bully that he was.

"When I was up there," he nodded across the Hudson, "a man came to see me one day and he said—well, of course, I laughed him down—he said my wife was living here with Burton Temple, living here with an unmarried man. Well, as I say, I laughed him down; I wouldn't let him see"—

He paused for a second, arrested by Anna's instinctive recoiling. Two little steps she took, steadying herself by both hands on the table back of her. The pupils of her gray eyes were black and big with horror.

"Oh, you needn't take it like that," he went on magnanimously. "Why, I'm not going to ask you a single question, not one. I won't try to learn how far it's gone; I'll overlook—we're both of us—well, it'll be all right. Only, really, I must ask you to come along now; I've no time to spare."

"I have met Absurdity in my time and hobnobbed with him," said Anna at length, "but I never heard anything so absurd as that. Could you really fancy, Robert Granger, that I should go with you—now?"

If she had burst upon him with a storm of words, anger, injured virtue, reproach, he might have known what to do. But this! This haughty, fine disdain! It made even him realize his own depravity.

"For a moment just now," she said, "your weakness overcame me. I was going to—God knows what I was going to do. Then you offered to buy me, my sympathy, as though I were a thing to be bargained for, along with your Rose Fanchon. And as though that were not enough, you tried to barter your children's mother's honor. You knew that every drop of my blood, every throb of my heart, was in either your own or the children's keeping. You knew it. And yet, oh, what sort of a thing are you to be made in God's image?"

Granger sank on his knees, catching at her hand. With the loss of his game went also the loss of his nerve.

"Forgive, Anna," he cried, "forgive, and come with me now."

But coldly, contemptuously, she bade him rise. "I've put you out of my life," she said.

Driven into a corner like a rat, all his despicable cruelty came out. He started as though to spring upon his wife, and Mrs. Mason screamed.

"You'll testify against me, will you?" he sneered. "Testify against your husband for a stranger? No magnifying glass needed on that; it's pretty plain. I was safely tucked away in prison. You thought you could"—

"I HAVEN'T BEEN PARDONED, ANNA; I ESCAPED!"

In answer to Mrs. Mason's scream Temple had appeared, followed by Craven. Granger looked at them sneeringly for a second, then went on in his tirade against his wife.

"You think of your children's honor, do you? Well, can you afford to let them have your name soiled with this scandal? Go to court; testify all you like in Temple's behalf, and I'll swear you've been living here with him. D'ye think the jury will accept your word in his favor without proof, mind you, when it's your husband who is accusing him and you?"

"You scoundrel!" cried Temple, making a rush upon him. "You skulking dirty little scoundrel!"

Half choking, Granger fought but he was as nothing in the hands of the enraged giant who held him. Then Craven touched his friend firmly on the arm.

"Let him go, Temple. Don't kill him. He isn't worth it."

Granger, released, still choking, managed to stammer: "I'll say it, I'll publish it. What'll you two look like then? I can block any testimony she can give. Pretty good story for the papers, eh? And they're on my side anyhow."

"He's right, Temple," whispered Craven aside. But Granger overheard and with a flash of triumph turned to his wife.

"Come along, I say. Come along—now, or I'll telephone my pretty story immediately. Once out, you know, it'll go like wildfire"—

And then, just outside the window, there sounded a low, shrill whistle.

That whistle caused Granger, the momentary cruel dictator, to collapse suddenly into Granger, the cringing thief.

"They're following me; they're on my track; they'll get me! Save me! Oh, save me! I haven't been pardoned, Anna; I escaped! Don't you understand? I was a trusty"—

But the woman only stared at him dully. Mrs. Mason furtively left the room at last.

"When Mrs. Mason told me what you were doing here I knew I must get you away; I feared you would discover my guilt. That's why I came; that's why I risked getting the pardon. I thought you'd help me to get away. Oh, for God's sake, hide me, Anna!"

"They're asking for him," said Craven, returning from the hall. "They are downstairs asking for him."

"Tell them he is here," replied Anna sternly. She was adamant now.

In desperation Granger rushed to the door through which Craven had passed out and again locked it. Temple stood passively by, letting Anna work her own will. The knob of the locked door turned twice, then rattled.

The convict crept, shuddering, to his wife's feet. Then from the deep springs of her woman's tenderness there came one last drop of pity. She walked to the window and opened it. He should have his last chance.

He comprehended and, with one last grateful look at her, darted through the window into the blackness of the night.

Anna dropped tremblingly into a chair and peered fixedly, strainedly, out into the darkness.

The sharp report of a pistol rang out, followed by a second and a third. The woman in the chair moaned.

In a few minutes Craven came to the door and rattled again. Temple unlocked it and met him on the threshold.

"It's all over with Granger," said Craven. "He's dead." Then at a look from Temple he retreated, leaving the two alone.

"You heard?" asked the man gravely. The woman bowed her head a little lower in a sort of requiem prayer. Then:

"Poor, poor Robert!" murmured she, the pity of her heart surging to her lips.

For an indefinite space there was silence, she praying, he, standing by the mantel, reverently guarding her.

But presently as she began to sob "My boys, oh, I want my boys," he crossed over to her. He laid his hand protectingly on the bent, shining head.

"We'll get them, dear," he said simply.

She looked up, dazed for a second, pushing her way back to him through a blur of tears.

He knelt beside her; he took her little cold hands in his and tried to warm them against his cheek, wet like her own. She seemed so frail now, so slight a thing, so helpless to battle against such great odds. He yearned to comfort her and gather her to him as he would a child.

But gently she fended him off.

"Not yet, not quite yet, not tonight. But, oh, if you knew how the heavens were opening to me, beloved!" Her eyes shone upon him like stars. "I don't think that anything, anything, anything in the whole wide world can ever make me feel tired again. My fighting hope is at rest, and my boys will learn from a man how they shall be men."

THE END.

He Was No Shirk.

In an Illinois town you can find on the map the fire department has an excellent record for conscientiousness and devotion to duty. One night the church bell rang out clearly an alarm with the code taps that indicated "fire north of square."

In an instant response the fire department jumped on his horse and galloped to the rescue. He had not gone far when a second alarm announced a second fire, this time to the south. An anxious citizen speeding toward his south side property called out to the passing marshal:

"Hi, Jake! You're headed the wrong way! There's a big blaze at Grening's."

The fireman was no shirk. "Keep it a-goin', Ed!" he shouted. "I'll be over in less 'en ten minutes!"—Everybody's Magazine.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

We Guarantee to Relieve Dyspepsia. If We Fail the Medicine Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people that indigestion and dyspepsia can be permanently relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will bring about this result, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give satisfaction to any one using it.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is carefully prepared so as to develop its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid. Without it the digestion and assimilation of food are impossible.

The Carminatives possess properties which aid in relieving the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food. This combination of these ingredients makes a remedy invaluable for the complete relief of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so certain of this that we urge you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on our own personal guarantee. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store — The Rexall Store. The Orear-Henry Drug Co., 113 North Main Street.

GRAIN ELEVATION CASE IS SETTLED

Western Railroads May Pay for Service in Transit.

MISSOURI DECISION IS UPHELD

Long Contest Involving Greatest Commercial Interests in Southwest Ends in Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The long contest over the power of the interstate commerce commission to prohibit railroads from paying to operators of elevators all compensation for "elevating grain in transit" was finally decided when the United States supreme court held the commission possessed no such power.

A decision was necessitated because the commission in 1908 issued an order exercising this power. The United States circuit court for Western Missouri subsequently held the order null and void because beyond the authority of the commission to issue. Probably the greatest commercial interests in the Mississippi Valley were involved in the contest. The Union Pacific and other railroads with Eastern terminals at Missouri river cities contended that unless they were permitted to pay for elevation of grain in transit they would be driven out of the business by the competition of roads that do not terminate at Missouri river cities.

Railroads with Western terminals at these cities put in a similar complaint. Elevator men, through the respective boards of trade, declared their business would be ruined by such an order.

On the other hand, the railroads running east and west of the Missouri river were in favor of the order. St. Louis and other grain centers on the Mississippi river also favored it.

In holding that the commission could not issue such an order, the circuit court said the law merely gave the commission power to see that a just and reasonable rate was fixed for this service of elevation, a part of transportation, which the railroads must furnish on demand. From this the court arrived at the conclusion that the commission by implication was forbidden from prohibiting all compensation for elevation.

The commission considered that Peavey & Co., owners of elevators at Missouri river points and a big shipper of grain, likewise would unjustly profit by the allowance for elevation to Peavey & Co.

The supreme court held that the order of the commission reducing the allowance for elevation to the cost of the service, namely three-fourths of a cent, should be allowed to stand. The court also allowed to stand the so-called Peavey order of 1909 insofar as it confined the allowance to grain reshipped within ten days. Except as to these two points, the decree of the United States circuit court for Western Missouri in regard to the elevation charges was affirmed.

MURDER CONFESSION WAS FAKE

Chicago Police Say St. Joseph Suspect Was Playing for Free Transportation.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Police Inspector Revere, after a thorough investigation said he was prepared to discredit the confession of George C. Papineau, made at St. Joseph, Mo., in which Papineau said he murdered a man named William Blake in Chicago last June.

"Papineau told the Blake murder story in order to be brought back to Chicago and escape trial and possible punishment at St. Joseph," said inspector Revere.

The police said they had learned that on June 9—the date of the alleged murder—Papineau was found overcome by the heat on the North Side and was taken to a hospital by the police department.

Another Identifies Cravens.

Guthrie, Ok., Nov. 14.—Adjt. Gen. Frank Canton visited the federal jail here with a deputy marshal, Chris Madsen. He is satisfied that Charles Maust, who was released five days ago from the Missouri state penitentiary, is Ben Cravens, the Oklahoma outlaw, under indictment here since 1900 for the murder of Alvin Bateman.

Enjoins a City Light Plant.

Chillicothe, Mo., Nov. 14.—Papers were served on Mayor Boehner and the members of the council by F. S. Hudson of this city, attorney for the People's Gas and Electric company, asking for an injunction restraining the city of Chillicothe from starting its new $50,000 electric light plant, which has just been completed.

Railway Clerks Get Raise.

Washington, Nov. 14.—President Finley of the Southern railway company announces that, in recognition of the value of their service and their loyalty to the interests of the company, the salaries of its clerical employes heretofore receiving $70 a month or less will be advanced.

DREW A TIMES CONTRACTOR

McNamara Venire Has Man Who Put Up Steel for New Building.

STRIKE IN PROGRESS ON HIS JOB

Famous Case Drags Slowly Five Venires Being Exhausted With But Three Jurors Accepted.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Six talesmen, accepted as to cause, and three sworn jurors were in the box at the close of the session of the James B. McNamara trial. Five venires have been exhausted and another of 40 men were drawn and instructed to report for duty.

The list contains the name of Milo A. Baker, vice president and superintendent of the Baker Iron Works, which is doing the structural steel work of the new Los Angeles Times building, and against which a strike called by the International association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers officially is in progress. This is the organization of which John J. McNamara, jointly indicted with his brother, James B., is secretary. Milo Baker is a brother of Fred L. Baker, president of the company, whose large residence in the northern part of the city has been under a special system of outside lighting and guarding since a dynamite explosion occurred last December at an iron plant against which a strike had been declared.

The talesmen passed were: Willett Brunner, railroad engineer; T. B. Green, stock raiser, and A. Gribling, retired harness maker.

E. M. Atkinson, president of a casket making company was excused after declaring that he believed the defendants were trying to prevent the state bringing from Indianapolis to Los Angeles evidence which he understood to be desired in the case, and were trying to keep Mrs. Ortie E. Manigal from testifying.

"Do you know that the Indianapolis contest is being waged by the Bridge and Structural Iron workers, and not by these defendants?" Attorney Lecompte Davis asked Atkinson.

"I believe they are the same to all intents," replied Atkinson.

Talesmen Green and Brunner qualified after brief examination. Gribling was qualified over a challenge preferred by the state on the ground that he had said he would not convict in capital cases on circumstantial evidence. Gribling said he would so convict if the evidence were sufficiently strong, and the court denied the challenge.

A tall blonde man with an English hat and accent came to court with Malcolm McLaren, operative of the detective agency which brought about the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal. Report had it that he was a Scotland Yard detective. McLaren said he was a barrister.

COLUMBIA TO ENTERTAIN MANY

Dinners and Parties for Alumni on Eve of Football Game Keep Students Busy.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—More than 2,500 invitations have been sent out by the sororities and fraternities at the University of Missouri to alumni in the state to attend dinners and parties here the night before the annual Missouri-Kansas football game, November 25. Probably the most poted alumnus who has promised to come is Speaker Champ Clark. Mr. Clark is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and will act as toastmaster at the dinner at the chapter house. Nearly 300 invitations have been issued for this dinner alone.

Practically every dining hall in town has been engaged for the night before the game. Some of the fraternities are already engaging cooks, and negroes who can wait on the table are at a premium. Many of the dinners will be followed by a dance.

The day of the game the alumni association in Columbia will entertain visiting alumni. In the rooms of the University Dining club coffee, sandwiches and other refreshments will be served free at the noon hour to all former students who come to see the game.

Shot Himself in a Dream.

Chickasha, Ok., Nov. 14.—Thomas Burke, an old Indian fighter, and for 20 years deputy United States marshal in this district, shot himself in a dream here. Burke slept at the Royal hotel with his revolver under his pillow. In a nightmare he believed he was pursuing a train robber, seized his revolver and pulled the trigger. The bullet went through the pillow and struck him in the lower jaw.

Apples Growers in a Congress.

Denver, Nov. 14.—More than 4,000 visitors from all of the 20 states which are represented in the exhibits are in attendance at the American Apple congress here. In the exhibits are products from Texas, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, California, Oregon, Washington, Utah and New Mexico. British Columbia also is represented.

SHE DIED TO SAVE ANOTHER

WOMAN TELLS NEW STORY OF DR. KNABE'S DEATH.

Claims Woman Doctor Gave Two Quarts of Blood to Save a Life—Patient Now Recovering.

Elwood, Ind., Nov. 14.—Interest in the mysterious death of Dr. Helene Knabe, the Indianapolis physician who was found dead in her apartments with her throat slashed, has shifted to this city as a result of the appearance of a woman who represented herself as Dr. Carrie Gregory.

She said she was seeking a nurse who had disappeared from Indianapolis. If the young woman, whose name was Mills, could be found, the mystery would be cleared, she declared. Her theory was neither suicide nor murder, viewed from a scientific standpoint.

She says the death came about through an attempt to further science. She asserts that a patient in whom Dr. Knabe and two other physicians were deeply interested had an ailment that was drying up the blood. It was the theory of Dr. Knabe that the woman's life could be saved if two quarts of blood could be obtained from a healthy person to be injected into the patient's veins.

Finally the woman physician, in her enthusiasm, decided to give two quarts of her own blood. But taking so much of her blood resulted fatally and the other two physicians slashed her throat in order to make it appear she had been murdered. She says this is why the amount of blood on the bed was much smaller than would have been the case if her throat had been slashed while she was alive.

She says, however, that the woman for whom Dr. Knabe sacrificed her life to further science, received the blood of Dr. Knabe into her veins, and is at this time in an Indianapolis hospital, on the way to recovery.

TEACHES BOYS TO CRACK SAFES

School of Correspondence in Indiana Discovered Through Colorado Youth.

Grand Junction, Col. Nov. 14.—Somewhere in Indiana there is a school that teaches by correspondence how to crack safes, money vaults and slot machines, according to Sheriff Schrader of Mesa county, who said that he has come into possession of books containing a clever treatise on the construction of safes and every make of vault used for the storage of valuables.

Sheriff Schrader said that he has been working on the matter for several days and that he is in correspondence with officials in Indiana. He declines to state the name of the city in Indiana where the school is located, but says he will make public all the information he has at hand within a few days. He also refuses to give the name of the institution.

The books were found in the possession of an 18-year-old boy arrested for the theft of tools from a local store. The boy said they had been sent to him through the mails from Indiana, but he declined to give any further information.

TO PROSECUTE MINE OPERATORS

Contempt for Safety Laws Causes Kansas Officials to Take Action.

Topeka, Nov. 14.—The attorney general is going to help make the mine operators in Southeast Kansas obey the safety laws.

"There is a supreme contempt for the safety laws in the state down there," said W. P. Montgomery, assistant attorney general for Crawford county.

"The complaint of the mine inspector, Leon Besson, that the county attorney was not doing anything came about as a misunderstanding and I don't believe there will be any more complaints.

"Under instructions from John Dawson, attorney general, I have notified the mine inspector and the county attorney that the attorney general will give all the help the state has in any complaint or prosecution. These mine operators are going to be prosecuted thoroughly."

Operation for Cowgill.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 14.—James Cowgill ,state treasurer, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. William E. Spratt, here, has gone to Rochester, Minn., to undergo another operation. Mr. Cowgill was operated on last summer. When he came home it was said he would have to return for supplemental treatment. it is believed this operation will not be dangerous and that he will be out of the hospital in two or three weeks.

Plan a Phthisis Fight.

Jefferson City, Nov. 14.—At the meeting here of the State Anti-tuberculosis association it was decided to attempt to raise $10,000 or more to carry on its work in Missouri next year. The association now owes about $100.

Killed in a Rabbit Hunt.

Hutchinson, Kan., Nov. 14.—The first hunting fatality of the year occurred here when M. H. Bright, a farm hand, was shot by W. Sanford, his friend, while the two were rabbit hunting. Bright died in a hospital.

THE COMMERCIAL CONGRESS OPENS

Twenty-Second Annual Session Most Important in History.

PLAN PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

Unification of All Interests West of Mississippi River is Hope of Leaders in Movement.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—The twenty-second annual session of the Trans-Mississippi congress, which opened at the Shubert theater, will probably be the most important session of the congress ever held, for the leaders in the work of the congress for the past five or six years will try to put through their plan for permanent organization. The executive committee has worked for some time on the plan for permanent organization, which will be presented for the consideration of the delegates.

The plan embraces the unification of all the commercial interests west of the Mississippi river into a businesslike and compact body, with all the year around headquarters and working force, that will work constantly every month of the year for the promotion of Western prosperity. Hitherto the Trans-Mississippi congress has annually stirred up interest in reclamation, irrigation, river improvement and other projects, which interest has been allowed to die down during the rest of the year.

Every commercial body west of the Mississippi river will be invited to have representatives in the permanent congress. Representation from states will be based on the congressional representation. Twenty-five states are expected to join the movement. There will be three directors from each of the 25 states and territories west of the Mississippi river, including Hawaii and Alaska.

It is the privilege of delegates to present in 5-minute speeches resolutions on any subject. Most of these resolutions, it is expected, will be presented at the morning session. Then the program committee will meet to outline the program for the rest of the week, taking into consideration the resolutions presented.

SHOT HIS WIFE BY ACCIDENT

Young Farmer Was Cleaning Gun Preparatory to Hunting Trip—Married But a Year.

Gallatin, Mo., Nov. 14.—Wora Wynne, a young Daviess county farmer, shot and killed his wife at their home east of Jameson. The shooting is believed to have been accidental. Mr. Wynne and his wife were alone when it occurred and neighbors who were immediately summoned found the woman dead on the kitchen floor with a fork in her hand. Wynne says he was cleaning his gun preparatory to going hunting and his wife was busy about getting breakfast, when the gun accidentally went off and the charge of shot struck his wife, who was only a few feet away. Wynne is 19 years old, and his wife was 22. They were married one year ago and both come of good families. No trouble is known to have existed and Wynne's story of the shooting is generally believed, but the prosecuting attorney and coroner believe it best that an inquest be held.

To Stop Bets in Kansas.

Topeka, Nov. 14.—John S. Dawson, attorney general, has filed in the supreme court a quo warranto suit to test the right of Kansas fairs to allow betting on horse racing. The law is ambiguous. The suit was brought against the Anthony Fair association of Harper county. One section absolutely prohibits betting of any kind or the making of pools on horse racing. Another section makes an exception of two weeks each year for each county when fairs may provide betting rings and offer to make pools on the races.

Plan a State School Tax.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—A campaign is to be started at once for an amendment to the state constitution providing for a 1-mill tax to maintain the public schools of Missouri, including the state university and the normal schools. The teachers of the state at their annual convention in Hannibal passed a resolution for arranging the amendment. A committee is to be appointed at once to begin the work of circulating the petition necessary to bring it up at the next general election.

Japan's Ambassador Coming.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Formal notice of the purpose of the Japanese government to appoint Baron Chiuda ambassador in Washington to succeed Viscount Uchida, who was made minister of foreign affairs, has reached Washington.
